

Enabling PFM Reform That Matters

Our Purpose

FreeBalance partners with the world's most innovative governments to accelerate growth and sustainable development through digital transformation. By providing a centralized and integrated digital government platform, we enable countries to manage and deliver government services more effectively and transparently, enhancing citizen and business satisfaction.

Over our 40-year history, we have worked with governments in more than 30 diverse countries, from emerging economies to more established democracies, fostering stability, economic growth, and trust through digital transformation. Our work often addresses urgent needs in fragile and post-conflict states, delivering innovative solutions tailored to complex governance challenges.

We are proud to support three of the world's newest countries - South Sudan, Kosovo and Timor-Leste - to improve the management of public money and resources. Building a platform for effective public financial management is critical in the development of nations, institutions, and societies, and has a wide-ranging impact on communities and citizen wellbeing as countries move forward.

A proud signatory of the UN Global Compact, FreeBalance is committed to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and to helping governments align digital transformation to national development priorities.
